

The short content of the 7th opera: “Tsar Nicolaus II. – Stalin”

In the beginning of the story are our protagonists visited by the highly evolved extraterrestrials in the house by the sea again, and they are told that the Earth is endangered again by another “falling” entity, a homo spiritus angelus who brings the darkness and evil. Under the influence of the sins of enviousness and pride now fallen out but previously the spiritual energetic beings at the top of the evolution scale exist recently behind the border line of the universe and multi-universe, behind the horizon where the physical laws don't exist and there's only chaos left. From this different dimension they want to break through to the universe and displace all the laws and light out of there. For this purpose they want to get the support of the civilizations at the lower level like human beings are. On the planet Earth they have had for a thousand of years an accomplice set. He uses for his purpose, and that's the getting of the human accomplices, the host bodies of the human beings, or he is hiding in some object. He set himself free in the beginning of the 20th century, and he started to spread through the host bodies. He waited for the beginning of the electrified networks and technologies, and in the second half of the 20th century he started to spread through them and besides he kills the host bodies or forces them to do various atrocities. He also could be hiding in several host bodies at the same time. He forces the host bodies to atrocities and murders, and this way he gets the energy for himself and prepares Earth for the age of the absolute darkness at the same time. Last time he was seen in the times of Nicolaus the second.

Peter and Eve need to return there but just as the observers. We see Kremlin in the years of the first World War. In the empty corridors there are tsar's daughters running around in the early puberty age. They are running towards still emptier corridors and meanwhile kind of a dark erotic excitement grows stronger in them, when they arrive in the dark and abandoned hall where the old big clocks stand. While they were approaching the clocks in the dark hall they started to feel unbearable sexual urge, and when the clocks started to “sing” they started crawling and masturbating from behind. Behind the wardrobe there is a hidden man peeping on them with an evil sensual grin – Rasputin: “Just carry on girls, soon I will fuck you all.”

Later on the tsars' daughters are going to peep through the keyhole to see what Rasputin does in the kitchen with maids. They see that Rasputin is having a group sex with all of the young maids and everything looks awful, but the tsars' girls are so horny that they would love to join the maids. Meanwhile also the tsar Nicolaus II. found out that everything is not alright with Rasputin. Our observers, Eve and Peter found out that in the clocks an old stone was hidden, and perhaps in that stone a ghost of the fallen and evil entity was trapped. They think that now he is in Rasputin's body and he influences him and all the others around, mainly the tsars' daughters. Meanwhile the Tsars' officers together with an undercover agent from the Great Britain killed Rasputin, who while was under the influence of an evil ghost wasn't easy to kill. In between the evil spirit moves to the host body of a young officer who has later on become an assistant of Joseph Dzugasvili, i.e. future Stalin. The evil spirit whispers to Stalin that he will create the most advanced society but he can't stop no matter what. Stalin believes in that and he is being still worse and crueller dictator, and meanwhile here assures himself that just he himself is the chosen one to accomplish the ideals of the socialism and communism. The evil spirit during the visit of Ribentrop via Molotov Skryabin moves into Ribentrop and later on into Hitler. To get the energy he forces Hitler to make an absolute solution, and that is the holocaust. Later, via double agent he gets into the body of Howeray and through him to another people, who are the leaders of the international banks, corporations and governments. Gradually he spreads around the world and mainly into the bodies of the important leaders of the international financial institutions and corporations as well as into the wealthiest people from Wall Street like Swordsmann or Koch. These leaders are secretly meeting with a purpose to stop any inclination to better social systems, actually the other way round, to support all the evil, antisocial and extremely egoistic worldwide social systems and the decadence of mankind. They want to stop the spreading of any alternative, free or cheap energies and technologies, and they support the negative attitude everywhere as well as backwardness, decadence of the mankind and evil. They lead the human civilization to the spiritual decline, to the spiritual and physical genocide. The extraterrestrial entities return Peter and Eve to the present. They also tell them that they need to find out the origin of the stone which was hidden in the clocks, so they will have to travel further back in time.